Compliance Assistance Workshop for Chemical Industry Sector

Understanding environmental regulations and knowing how they directly relate to your business operations often can be confusing and difficult to determine. This workshop is designed to help you determine if you are meeting environmental regulatory requirements, and how you can improve your environmental performance.

South Carolina Department of Health and Environmental Control (DHEC) staff will provide important information on a wide range of environmental topics, including solid and hazardous waste management, air and water quality management, and underground storage tank regulations. In addition, the workshop will provide information on DHEC district services, and the non-regulatory compliance assistance opportunities available through the Small Business Assistance Program (SBAP) and the Center for Waste Minimization (CWM). Workshop materials and exhibits will have helpful, practical information such as regulations, forms, and fact sheets to help you better understand the regulatory framework. Opportunities to sign up for compliance assistance site visits through the SBAP and CWM will be available.

Who Should Attend Environmental managers and other industry personnel from the following industry groups should attend the workshop: chemical manufacturing, chemical preparations, or products manufactured using predominantly chemical processes. These types of facilities typically are listed under the Standard Industrial Classification category 2800.
